

DEPARTMENT OF ANATOMY

EVENT: Guest Lecture-Heart Development and Its Congenital Anomalies

Guest speaker:

Dr. K. NITHIYA MBBS, DNB (paediatric)
Assistant professor
Department of Paediatrics
Aarupadai Veedu Medical College and Hospital
Pondicherry
DATE: 24.02.2025

The Department of Anatomy, Tagore Medical College and Hospital, organized an online guest lecture on Heart Development and Its Congenital Anomalies for the first year MBBS students on 24.02.25. It was conducted to provide in-depth knowledge about the embryological formation of the heart and the various congenital defects associated with it. The session aimed to enhance understanding among medical students about the critical stages of heart development and their clinical implications. Students responded to the Google form's questions about the congenital anomalies of heart. We thank our Chairperson, Secretary, Dean and Medical Superintendent for making this event successful.