Detailed report of the program

On June 21, 2018, Tagore Medical College observed International Yoga Day with great enthusiasm. The event aimed to create awareness about the numerous health benefits of practicing yoga, which can help medical professionals enhance patient care.

A series of yoga sessions were conducted, led by experienced instructors. Medical students actively participated in various yoga asanas, breathing exercises, and meditation techniques, gaining firsthand experience of their therapeutic effects.

This event not only provided a refreshing break from the demanding medical curriculum but also served as a reminder to medical students about the significance of self-care. Yoga's positive impact on mental and physical well-being was emphasized, as it fosters self-awareness, concentration, and resilience—essential qualities for future healthcare providers.
